New bus shelters on way to station

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

LONG-AWAITED changes to Haverhill's bus station are set to move forward after a council agreed to release the necessary funding.

There has been major public protest over new shelters at the station since they were installed last year as part of a refurbishment costing nearly £300,000.

Passengers have complained they are too small and the entrances were too close to the kerb, making it difficult to get on and off buses. Mums with buggies and the elderly are particularly affected by the problems.

It is expected to cost around £60,000 to replace the shelters.

Suffolk County Council agreed in February that the work needed to be done, but there is still no firm news on the possible start date for the changes, even though the funding has now been approved.

A council spokesman said an order had now been placed for the replacement shelters, which were due to be installed by the autumn.

Pensioner Jean Telford collected 2,200 signatures on a petition calling for the shelters to be replaced.

She has welcomed news of the funding, but said she would not be satisfied unless the new shelters solved all the problems.

Entertaining days ahead thanks to champion

A DAY centre for the elderly has received a £250 boost from a supermarket chain.

Haverhill's Greenfields centre, run by Age Concern, will use the cash, given by Tesco, to help pay for entertainment and other activities for people who use the centre.

Claire Bowden, Tesco's community champion for Haverhill, handed over the cheque on Monday when she also took some cakes for the people who use the centre.

Ms Bowden said she recommended the cash award, which could also help buy some painting materials for art sessions, after she was invited to visit the centre and see what activities they provide.

Her appointment as community champion was made following the opening of the town's Tesco branch nearly a year ago.

Success: Castle Manor students Anna Peachy and Victoria Cox are all smiles after opening their envelopes. CP

Students set records with top GCSE marks

GCSE results at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College in Haverhill were described this week as the "best-ever".

The college saw 87 per cent of students achieve five A*-C grades, which places Castle Manor among the top results in national league tables.

Principal Madeleine Vigar said: "These results are a fantastic achievement and a credit to our students and their families."

"Students and staff have worked tirelessly to ensure that every student has achieved the success they deserve."

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

The top performing students were: Ellena Abery with five A* grades, nine As and one B; Elizabeth Allin with three A's, six As and five Bs; James Ager with one A*, five As, four Bs and four Cs; Beth Polley with three A*, one A, six Bs and four Cs; Aidrian Perry with four As, eight Bs and two Cs; Jared Trunks with five As, four Bs and five Cs; and Natalie Cockayne with four As and 10 Bs.

Twins at Samuel Ward Upper School and Technology College got matching results.

Megan and Jacob Willmore were among the top performers the Haverhill college. They both got six A's and four As.

The school's overall results showed 88 per cent of students got five A* to C grades or better and 50 per cent getting the grades including English, maths and science.

Nearly all those who sat GCSEs got grades between A* and G with 99.5 per cent achieving pass grades.

Andy Prestoe, deputy head, said the results were an improvement on last year's.

He said: "It's a fantastic set of results."

"I would like to thank our staff, the community and parents for their support in helping the students achieve these results."

Other top results at the school were achieved by Faye Battye, who got seven A's and three As and Arun Sajeendran who got five A's and four As.

There was special mention for Christina Lawrence, who underwent an operation to remove a brain tumour last year. She got a D grade in GCSE maths – the only GCSE she took – as well as getting an adult literacy qualification in English.

Mr Prestoe said: "She has shown huge determination and resilience."

"What she has achieved is absolutely phenomenal. She worked incredibly hard and thoroughly deserves her grade."

Objectors lose battle over manor flats plan

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

NEW plans to build flats in the garden of a Georgian manor house are being opposed by town councillors and residents.

But the scheme, for four flats in the grounds of the Manor House in Hamlet Road, Haverhill, is being recommended for approval by St Edmundsbury Borough Council planners.

They have pointed out that the latest plan is similar to a scheme approved last year.

The latest proposal is for four two-bedroom flats in a two-storey building. The previous scheme would have provided three two-bedroom flats and one single-bedroom flat.

Permission was also granted last year for the conversion of the Manor House, which was last used as flats, into four flats.

Objections to the current proposals, submitted by developers Addison and Byford, have been lodged by Haverhill Town Council on the grounds that the access for vehicles is not wide enough for two cars to pass.

Town councillors also raised concerns about visibility for vehicles joining Hamlet Road.

In addition they argued that the original wall around the Manor House garden should be saved and the scheme did not propose enough parking spaces for the residents of the new flats.

Similar concerns were raised by two neighbours. One of them also complained that the new flats would be too close to their home.

A report to St Edmundsbury's development control committee, which meets next Thursday, points out the scheme satisfies rules for new developments in a conservation area and the new building would complement the Manor House.

The council's tree expert has said the scheme would not harm mature trees in the garden.

Proposals for a building in the garden of the Manor House were first considered in 2005.

Approval of the scheme is being recommended with suggested conditions including measures to check for possible contamination of the site.

Tent aid: Scouts and leaders from the 1st Haverhill Scout Group with their new first aid tent presented by Genzyme.

CP

Company sets up first aid camp for Scouts

A NEW first aid tent has been bought for a Scout group by a pharmaceutical company.

Haverhill-based Genzyme has presented the tent to the 1st Haverhill Scout Group.

The new tent replaces one that was more than 30 years old and will be available at the numerous outdoor activities organised by the group.

David Miller, Scout leader, said: "Under Scout Association regulations, we have to provide a separate, dedicated first aid facility at all of our events, in case of any eventualities."

"Experience indicates that the primary use of the tent will be to provide a quiet place to rest and recuperate after a grazed knee or a minor bump."

Duncan Batty, group Scout leader, said: "In these times of economic cutbacks it is humbling that an organisation such as Genzyme is willing to support local charities and appreciates the good work we are trying to achieve in developing the full potential of young people in the Haverhill area."

Currently the 1st Haverhill Scout Group has more than 100 young members between the ages of 6 and 18.

There are waiting lists in all sections of the group, which could be partially reduced with more adult help. Anyone interested in volunteering to help should contact Mr Batty on (01440) 707317.

Free training courses

FREE training courses and free police checks are being offered to volunteer groups. Haverhill and District Volunteer Centre is offering the training which includes child protection and first aid. Elaine Hewes, centre manager, said: "All groups are eligible and there are no hidden catches. Everyone in the area can take advantage of our services just by registering." The volunteer centre is based in the council offices in Lower Downs Slade, Haverhill, and can be contacted by calling (01440) 708444 or emailing info@vc.org.uk

Business start-up tips

TIPS about self-employment and starting a business will be given at the next meeting of the Chalkstone Tenants' and Residents' Association in Haverhill. Barbara Adshead, from Menta, the Suffolk Enterprise Agency, will be speaking at the meeting on Wednesday at the committee room of Chalkstone Community Centre in Strassbourg Square at 7.30pm. Maria Mitchell will also be speaking about the Ipswich and Suffolk Credit Union.

Pipers head to fayre

BAGPIPES and a silver band will be two of the attractions at Thurlow Fayre on Sunday, September 5.

Colchester Pipes and Drums, which has built up a reputation for piping off cruise ships at the Port of Harwich and also appearing at the Help for Heroes charity event at Glemham Hall this summer, will give a performance in the main ring of the show. Hadstock Silver Band will provide music for visitors in the refreshment marquee.

Other attractions include a demonstration by the Patavanac gundogs and a ferret display.

There will also be a car boot sale, fun dog show and children's attractions including circus skills and face painting.

The organisers are hoping to top last year's record of more than £1,000 for charity. For details visit www.thurloufayre.org.uk

New shelters on way

Cllr Anne Gower, one of Haverhill's members of the county council, said: "They shouldn't have got it wrong in the first place."

"It's taken a lot of pressure from the public, as well as myself and other councillors, to get this far."

She said Cllr Guy McGregor, the county council's portfolio holder for transport, had been very supportive and had agreed that there were problems with the shelters.

Cllr Gower said: "I hope they get a move on and get the work done."

"I feel sorry for people who are getting soaked to the skin because they can't use the shelters."

"People who have to use the buses deserve better facilities."

Dedication adds up to success for Chelsea

A YOUNG accountancy technician is to receive an award for her outstanding performance on her course.

Chelsea Firman, 21, works for Paul Donno and Co, accountants and business advisers, which has an office in Haverhill.

She will receive the finance cup at West Suffolk College, Bury St Edmunds, for her performance in the Association of Accounting Technicians (AAT) course.

She said: "I was working in the accounts department at a company in Cambridge but had always wanted to work in an accountancy practice. I felt the time had come to realise my ambitions and so I contacted Paul Donno & Co to see if they had a vacancy. I guess my timing was right because Paul said yes!

Lifting the cup: Chelsea Firman.

"I have been studying for the AAT course on a day release basis at West Suffolk College for the last three years. When the exams came around I was really nervous because I wanted to pass so much - I had just landed my ideal job and the last thing

I wanted to do was fail."

Mr Donno said: "We are all really proud of Chelsea, passing her AAT qualification is a great achievement and to receive an award for outstanding performance is just the icing on the cake."

Village rocked by landlord's death

BY RAYMONDBROWN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A MAN has been charged with murder after the former landlord of a Linton pub was decapitated.

Christopher Varian, who ran the Dog & Duck in the village's High Street, was killed on Saturday.

The pub was silent on Sunday as regulars tried to take in the horror of the tragedy.

Mr Varian left the pub in March last year following a failed bid to make it a success as an "upmarket" bar and restaurant.

The 32-year-old was found dead in a delivery area behind The Oxfordshire Golf Club, near Thame, where he worked. He had been decapitated.

Police were called to the club at 3pm.

His shocked family, who originally come from the Linton area, have paid tribute to him.

In a statement released by police on behalf of the family, they said: "Chris was a wonderful person, everyone's friend.

You could not wish to find a harder and more honest worker.

"He was truly a gentleman who wouldn't hurt a fly. His passing leaves a hole in this family which can never be filled or forgotten."

It is believed his parents, who moved from Linton to France last year, were on a cross channel ferry returning for Mr Varian's brother's wedding, set to be held this week.

John O'Toole, a Linton resident and regular at the pub, said: "I went to the pub on Sunday and we were all shocked. The place went quiet and there wasn't much conversation as everyone tried to take in what happened."

"Chris was a really nice chap. He tried to turn the pub into an upmarket place but it didn't work out.

"His parents moved to France last year and set up a business and were coming back on the ferry for their son's wedding when the news broke about Christopher. He also has a sister. Our hearts go out to his family."

Found 'decapitated': Christopher Varian.

Mr Varian lived in Stone, near Aylesbury.

Commander for Oxfordshire Chief Supt Brendan O'Dowda said: "On behalf of the police I would like to offer my sympathies and condolences to the victim's family at this difficult time."

Benjamin Webb, spokesman for The Oxfordshire Golf Club, said: "Chris was a much admired and respected member of staff and friend."

"Our thoughts are with his family at this time."

Mr Varian was landlord of the Dog & Duck for less than two years. He gave the pub's restaurant its own name, Mallards, and introduced a menu including mains costing up to £17.55, but neighbours said he found it impossible to earn a living.

■ Colleague Jonathan Limani, 33, appeared before Oxford Crown Court on Tuesday after being charged with murder.

He was remanded in custody and is due to enter a plea in October, with a trial date set for January next year.

Mayors open annual floral art competition

Garland: East of England area chair Jean Crane with an exhibit. 672026.

MORE than 30 flower arrangements were displayed in an arts centre for an annual show.

Haverhill and District Flower Club's sixth annual floral art competition was held in the town's arts centre at the weekend.

Two mayors, Cllr Elaine McManus, the Haverhill mayor, and Cllr Ian Houlder, mayor of St Edmundsbury, officially opened the show.

Valerie Phillips, the club secretary, said: "This is the sixth consecutive year we have had the show and it has gone from strength to strength."

The show had seven classes for flower arrangers of different abilities and cash prizes for the first three in each class.

The prize for best in show was the Haverhill Weekly News trophy.

Striking: chair Sheila Gray, centre, with St Edmundsbury mayor Cllr Ian Houlder and Haverhill mayor Elaine McManus admire the floral art. Pictures: Richard Patterson 672028.

Town wins top title

A TOWN with a population of around 2,000 has been declared "village of the year".

Clare won the Suffolk title against competition from Moulton, near Newmarket, and Wickham Market in the Suffolk Coastal district.

It was awarded the prize for its community spirit and the involvement of local organisations.

The prize in the contest, run by the Suffolk Association of Local Councils in conjunction with BBC Radio Suffolk, is £1,000, a plaque, a certificate and a barrel of beer.

The parish council has invited suggestions on how the prize could be used.

Clare had already won £500 in the St Edmundsbury round of the contest.

Moulton was the winner in the Forest Heath round.

Tenant wins her battle to stay at 'crackhouse'

POLICE have vowed to continue to fight Haverhill's drug problems, despite losing a bid to close a house alleged to have been used by dealers and users.

Magistrates last week rejected an application for a closure order on 15 Boxford Court, Haverhill.

Tenant Theresa Cassar was allowed to continue living there after she successfully opposed the order.

Following two days of hearings at Sudbury court, magistrates ruled that the evidence had not proved a link between anti-social behaviour and the supply of class A drugs.

The court heard that cocaine was found in the house when police carried out a raid with a search warrant on July 15.

A man arrived at the house with "wraps" of cocaine and a woman was also found to have cocaine.

Residents had complained about the smell of cannabis being smoked and had also told of seeing what appeared to be drug dealing in an alleyway behind the house.

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

But Ms Cassar argued that she should be allowed to keep her home.

If the order had been granted she could have been forced to move out and the house would have been closed for a period of time.

Sgt Sarah Bartley, of Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team, said: "Obviously we're very disappointed.

"But we are still intent on tackling drugs in Haverhill and we're interested in hearing from people who can help us eradicate the problem."

An interim order imposed on the house by the police has now been lifted.

But Sgt Barley said officers would continue to monitor the situation.

Police have previously been granted three "crackhouse closure" orders on houses in Haverhill since legislation came into effect under the Anti Social Behaviour Act in 2004.

Fight to keep our arts centre

Sir, As someone who moved to Haverhill eight years ago from the north, I read the article regarding the closure of Haverhill Arts Centre with interest and a little alarm (Arts centre may go as cuts loom – Weekly News, August 19).

For a town of Haverhill's size, it's important the arts centre is kept open and allowed to thrive, as it has done for the last few years in presenting a broad range of acts, artists and shows. It's these things that help to attract people to an area and give it some form of identity outside the town boundaries.

Without an arts centre, the only attractions are a few pubs, generally uninspiring restaurants and, erm, that's about it!

A case in point is my hometown of Hull. Over the past 40 years or so it has seen its identity as the leading fishing port in Europe eroded and the effects such a catastrophic event can have on the community. However, the city has fought back and now has many attractions worth visiting. One of these is the internationally-renowned Hull Truck Theatre. One might think that Hull and the arts do not go together, but the people of Hull are rightly proud of the theatre.

Its works and performances are renowned throughout the country, and indeed the world, and give outsiders a positive view and appreciation of Hull and its people. I appreciate that investing in the arts may not be a populist move and the above example refers to a large city, but the core principles are the same; if you want to create a good impression of an area it's important you provide variety, something to identify and be proud of, and something more than run of the mill boozers and chain restaurants. Just so people don't get the wrong impression here, I quite like the town, people and surrounding area (I wouldn't have stayed here for so long if I didn't!). I just don't think it's realised its potential. Closing the arts centre would do nothing for realising that potential and I would urge the town's people and councillors to do all they can to keep it open.

Dave Hammond
Shetland Road
Haverhill

We can't afford the handouts

Sir, I thought I would write to you about the Haverhill Arts Centre. My thoughts on funding is this: as a business owner I have to find my work and make a profit, and basically not rely on handouts or ask for more money from council taxpayers. I had my reservations on this when the town council took over the running of the arts centre a few years back. It has been heavily subsidised by funding from the borough council, which indirectly has come from me paying council tax to the borough council and then being passed onto the arts centre via Haverhill Town Council.

I don't use the arts centre and I feel that the shows should be scrutinised to see which is a worthwhile act to get in and which would make the arts centre a profit – you can't keep throwing money at it, so where will it end?

■ THIS week's picture, taken from our archives, shows children dressed up for a special occasion. Do you recognise anyone in the picture or know what the event was? Do you know where and when it was taken?

The town council should have stayed a town council and the arts centre should have been run as a separate business, not linked with separate people in charge for each. The town council tries to make decisions and, as everybody knows, the borough council overrules any decision our town council makes. They make stupid decisions regarding who can and who can't come to Haverhill regarding shops etc, so what's the point of a town council when, basically as a member of the public, you can achieve a lot more on your own?

We will be paying a town clerk £50,000 for being the man in charge and who knows how much for running the arts centre. I honestly think we can't afford both. My final point – if everybody decides they want to keep the arts centre then start a collection to save it.

Happy to pay the extra cost

Sir, I saw the article about the arts centre. I feel it would be a great loss as it provides a wide range of entertainment and I love the building. I would be prepared to pay extra council tax to keep it.

Staff need to be considered too

Sir, It would be a sad day if the arts centre were to close due to financial reasons and as a fairly regular user of the facilities, mainly for live events on the stage, plus cinema, I would be quite prepared to pay an extra fee to save any termination now being threatened. Of course, the security of members of staff also has to be greatly considered too in these hard times.

Speeders warned as police hit the streets

A CLAMP-down on speeding motorists is being held this week as part of a campaign across Europe.

Police in Suffolk are supporting the campaign led by TISPOL, the European Traffic Police Network, and the action started on Monday.

It is running alongside the Suffolk force's own month-long efforts to tackle speeding.

The county's roads policing unit is concentrating on one aspect of road safety each month with speeding the focus for August.

Last year 42 people died on the county's roads and speed was a factor in half the crashes.

As part of the campaign,

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

officers will be aiming to highlight the dangers of speeding and the consequences that driving above the limit can have through education and enforcement.

Motorists caught speeding will face a £60 fixed penalty notice and three points on their licence.

Drivers could be taken to court if they have a bad record or face other offences.

A court could impose a driving ban and bigger fines.

Chief Insp Adrian Dawson, head of roads policing for Suffolk, said: "Driving at excessive speeds is a contributing factor in a large number of road traffic collisions and people who speed need to realise that they are not only putting their lives at risk but also the lives of other road users.

"Drivers can greatly reduce the chances of doing serious harm if you are travelling at the speed limit designated for the road you're travelling on.

"We are already heavily focussed on excessive speeding this month and this campaign gives us the chance to continue doing so through both education and enforcement.

"It's a minority of drivers who feel they are above the law that place the majority of the public at risk – and it's these motorists we will be targeting."

Old Rovers line up for fundraising match

A FUN football tournament will raise money for the Cystic Fibrosis Trust.

It has been organised by Eve Golightly, who has cystic fibrosis, a genetic disorder which affects internal organs, and Stewart Nunn, manager of Haverhill's Con Club football team.

Stewart's team will be taking on "the rest of Haverhill" – a side which will include former Haverhill Rovers players and members of other teams – in a tournament which kicks off at 1.45pm on Sunday.

The event, at Haverhill Leisure Centre, will get under way from 1pm with attractions for children including football coaching.

There will also be a penalty shoot out to win Ipswich Town tickets.

Big bill after gas pipe theft

A HOUSEHOLDER was faced with a repair bill of around £350 after a one-foot length of gas pipe was stolen.

The pipe was taken from the front of a house in Pearmain Walk, Haverhill. Although the pipe itself was worth just £10, repairs by a gas engineer were estimated to cost £350.

It was the latest in a spate of thefts of copper gas pipe in Haverhill. Three other homes were targeted around the same time.

Anyone with information about the latest incident, which happened between 1pm and 4.30pm on Tuesday, August 17, should contact Sgt Sarah Bartley at the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Extra £721k for leisure centres

TAXPAYERS have been left to foot a bill of £721,000 more than expected to fund a leisure trust.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council handed over its leisure centres in Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds to Abbeycroft Leisure five years ago as a cost-cutting move.

The business plan said despite Abbeycroft Leisure's status as a charitable trust independent of the council, it would still require financial support from the authority on a yearly basis.

The plan said between 2005/2010 the amount of support needed would be £3,236,040.

However, it has now emerged that taxpayers have actually given £3,957,350 in management fees during Abbeycroft's first five years – £721,310 more than expected.

Of that sum, £455,633 more than originally planned was handed to Abbeycroft between 2007 and 2009 – when the leisure trust made an operating surplus of £156,000.

The council said while the amounts were more than planned, the transfer move had saved money and led to improved leisure centres.

Van still moving thanks to councillor's donation

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A VAN used by a charity furniture bank has been kept on the road thanks to a county councillor's donation to pay for repairs.

Cllr Phillip French gave £500 from his local budget to cover clutch repairs to the Vauxhall Movano van, used to deliver and collect furniture which is given to people in need in the Haverhill area.

The van was previously bought with the aid of similar donations from two of the town's other members of Suffolk County Council, Cllr Anne Gower and Cllr Tim Marks.

Henry Wilson, who runs the Furniture Bank as part of the REACH community projects backed by Haverhill's River of Life Community Church, said: "The van is ideal for our purposes, but it needed a major repair fairly soon after we got it so Cllr French's donation was very gratefully received."

REACH also operates a food bank for people in need, which runs alongside a debt counselling organisation, Christians Against Poverty.

The furniture bank evolved from the food bank as requests started to come in.

It operates from a unit on the Lime Grove Estate in Falconer Road but contact can be made through the REACH resource centre on the town's Clements Estate.

To make a donation towards the work carried out by REACH, or to offer your services as a volunteer, call (01440) 268003.

Roll of the dice raises care funds

A CHARITY casino night raised £1,680 for St Nicholas Hospice Care.

The black tie event at Purple Mango Indian Restaurant in New England, near Haverhill, was organised by The Best of Haverhill and Paul Donno & Co as part of the Towergate Accumulator Challenge.

The challenge involves around 40 West Suffolk companies each competing to raise the most money for the hospice in a three month period, which ends at noon on September 23.

It was the third event run by Paul Donno, the accountants and business advisers which have an office in Haverhill.

Paul Donno said: "Thanks to the generosity of local business people we raised £1,680 for St Nicholas Hospice Care through ticket sales, a mini auction and raffle.

"I am very grateful to everyone who donated prizes for the auction and the raffle. We had some fantastic prizes and raised nearly £550 on the raffle alone."

Paul Donno & Co has now raised £2,299 for the challenge thanks to a charity golf day in July, a balloon race at Glemsford Festival and the casino night.

The next event will be the St Nicholas Hospice Girls Night Out, which involves an 11.2 mile night time walk around Bury St Edmunds. A team of five women will take part in the walk on Saturday, September 18.

Police link break-ins

A SECURITY camera recording unit was among items stolen in a spate of thefts from business units.

Thieves are believed to have struck in the early hours of Tuesday when they broke into four firms in Haverhill.

At one business, in Falconer Road, Haverhill, they stole the CCTV recording unit, a DVD player and other items including a Fuji SLR digital camera, a Playstation 3 console and four Siemens laptops.

Copper piping and a Makita drill set were also stolen.

Alarms were pulled off the walls at another business in Falconer Road but nothing was stolen.

In a business in nearby Duddery Hill, thieves damaged a drinks machine and forced a padlock off a cupboard.

Another business in Boundary Road was broken into but nothing was stolen.

Police are linking all four burglaries and have appealed for information.

Contact Pc Penny Ogden, Pc Jake Lees or Pc Kevin Rolt of the Haverhill response team on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555111.

Rosalind runs for baby unit which helped her survive

LYING in the incubator, her tiny body a mass of wires and tubes, little Rosalind Wallduck was fighting for her life. Born a terrifying 12 weeks premature, she weighed a fragile 2lb 7oz; after suffering a collapsed lung, she was battling for every breath.

"It must have been absolutely terrifying for my mum," says Rosalind, now 23. "She was told I might not make it and, if I did, that I could have learning difficulties or be physically disabled . . .

"She says that, more than anything, she would have loved to be able to look into the future and see me now – happy, healthy and living a normal life."

With a BA and MPhil from Cambridge University already to her name, Rosalind is currently studying for a PhD in archaeology; she's just returned from a research trip to Belgrade.

A keen sportswoman

in her spare time, she's currently training for the new hockey season.

And she's got a bulging social diary too: this summer she trekked the Inca Trail with her boyfriend.

Sitting in a Cambridge café, sipping a cappuccino, Rosalind explains that her traumatic start in life is, thankfully, little more than a distant memory for her family. But, for many other families, it's a very different story.

According to national statistics, an incredible 54,500 babies were born pre-term in the UK in 2008.

That's 149 premature babies born every day – six an hour. And trends suggest that figure is rising, year on year.

Studies show that, at 30 months old, just under 50 per cent of children born at 26 weeks or less have a disability: lung conditions, slow development, problems with the nervous system.

It has also been found that being born very early can affect a child's ability to process information, attention span and hand-eye co-ordination (www.bliss.org.uk).

"I know how lucky I am; how different things might have been," says Rosalind, who grew up near Royston. "In fact, if it wasn't for the team at Addenbrooke's, I might not be here at all."

"That's why I decided to do the Great South Run to raise money for the neo-natal intensive care unit – to give something back."

Specially designed and equipped to care for the sickest and most vulnerable babies, Cambridge's neo-natal intensive care unit (NICU), based at the Rosie, receives referrals for critically ill babies from across the region.

"I knew I wanted to do something significant this year," continues Rosalind, who's studying at Jesus College, Cambridge.

"At Christmas a friend of mine, who did the Great North Run last year, asked me what my resolution was going to be – and asked if I'd like to do the Great South

Tough baby: Rosalind in an incubator 23 years ago. Left, she is now studying for a PhD in archaeology.

Run with her . . .

"I wanted to do it for a good cause and I wanted it to be something personal to me – so the NICU was the perfect choice."

Although playing hockey keeps Rosalind pretty fit, she admits finding the endurance element of training for a 10-mile run is a real challenge.

"I'm at that stage of training where thinking about the run makes me feel a bit sick," she laughs. "The worst thing is actually fighting the boredom: fighting the voice in my head which keeps saying: 'OK, I want to stop now. When can I stop?'"

And squeezing training runs into her already packed schedule hasn't been easy.

"I started out in the gym in January, building up fitness, then moved on to three training runs a week," continues Rosalind. "What with the trip to Belgrade and doing the Inca Trail, it's been hard to stick to that of late – but I've got until October 24, so I know I'll get there."

Keen to complete the Great South Run in less than 90 minutes, Rosalind has set herself a fundraising target of £1,000. The event, which takes place in Portsmouth and attracts 23,000 runners every year, raises thousands for a huge range of charities.

Rosalind says thinking about the work that goes on in NICU each and every day is a huge motivation.

"Eighteen weeks into the pregnancy, my mum suffered a placental abruption – when the placenta comes away from the uterus," she recounts. "It's a scary condition: it can cause miscarriage."

"She was put on bed rest and told she could leave hospital when she stopped bleeding; she carried on bleeding for the next 10 weeks, until she actually went into labour."

Until then, Rosalind's mother, Margaret, had been in the Lister Hospital, Stevenage. When doctors realised her baby was going to be delivered dangerously premature, they transferred her to the Rosie in Cambridge.

"It was the only place that could cater for such a tiny baby," Rosalind explains. "Apparently, when I was born, I cried straight away which was a good sign – it meant I was breathing."

"But I still had to go straight into an incubator and be fed by tube. And, a couple of hours after I was born, one of my lungs collapsed, so they had to put a chest drain in: I've still got the scar."

For a while, Rosalind admits it was tough and go. But, despite her fragile appearance, she proved to be a tough baby: when she was finally sent home, after almost two months in hospital, it was still four weeks before her official due date.

From then on, Rosalind continued to thrive: aside from a few additional eye tests when she was a little girl, she can't recall her life being any different to that of her friends. Her parents, Margaret and Simon, went on to have a son, born less than two years later; that pregnancy was trouble-free.

"Premature birth is more common than people realise," concludes Rosalind. "And, as I know, the care those babies receive in the first few hours and days makes all the difference – it can shape the rest of their lives."

ACT now to help Rosie unit

Last month, ACT, the registered charity for Addenbrooke's and the Rosie hospitals, launched an appeal to raise £30,000 for new equipment for the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU) at the Rosie Hospital. The unit looks after more than 1,000 babies from across the region each year and is one of the largest specialist units in the East of England. With increased demand on the unit and more cots being added, there is an urgent need for more life-saving equipment. £40 could buy a baby nest, which supports a baby's posture and muscle development; £650 could buy an apnoea alarm, which sounds every time a baby doesn't take a breath; £3,500 could buy an infusion pump that ensures the right amount of medicine is given to a premature baby.

To find out more or make a donation go to www.actcharity.org.uk or call ACT on (01223) 217757.

Gardeners' tribute to club stalwart

Judges: Andy Boyce, who judged the vegetables and flowers, with Dorothy Kidd, who judged the domestic and handicraft classes.

CP

A WEST Wrattling gardener has excelled at a garden club's annual show, where members paid tribute to a long-serving committee member.

Margaret Sadler, former secretary of Newmarket and District Gardening Society, died two days before the annual flower and vegetable show in the town's Memorial Hall on Saturday.

A minute's silence was held at the show in her memory.

Cliff Pettitt, show secretary, said: "She did a lot for the society and she will be missed."

Top awards at the show, which had around 200 entries, were taken by Les Moulton, from West Wrattling, and Pat Prewer, from Exning.

Mr Moulton took the Lord Wolverton Cup for best exhibit in the show with his giant onions.

He also took four of the top awards for vegetables – the Catherina Cup, the Sam Alper Cup and two NHS Cups.

In addition he took two awards in the roses section – the TV Gorden Jones Cup and another NHS Cup – as well as the Haverlock Ashton Cup in the flowers and pot plant section.

Mrs Prewer was awarded the Newmarket Town Council Golden Jubilee Shield for the member with the most points from the show and the garden competition.

She also received the Mrs Cumani Trophy for the member with the most prizes and the Mrs Wigg cup for fruit.

Other award winners were: Brian Drake (Trustee Savings Bank Cup for vegetables), Neil Hammond (Clive Brittain Salver for roses), Jennifer Clarke (Ken Ashwell Salver for flowers and pot plants), Ron Marshall (Mrs Wigg Rose Bowl for miniature flower arrangement), Jean Pettitt (Floral Arrangement Cup and Senior Handicraft Cup).

Anne Burling (Bruce Hobbs Cup for domestic produce), Josie Bacon (Samuel Pratt Cup for fruit cake), H Burling (Philip Poole and Kathleen Poole Memorial Cups in the children's section).

Haverhill Rugby Club New Season

THE FIXTURE LIST FOR HAVERHILL RUGBY CLUB'S 2010/11 SEASON SHOWS ONE BIG CHANGE FROM RECENT YEARS

After a successful campaign last season the 1st XV won promotion to Eastern Counties 1, so will be playing at the highest level the club has achieved in the last 10 years. This will renew rivalries with clubs Haverhill played against for many years before the league system was introduced in rugby. The 2nd XV will play in the Suffolk Merit Table again this year – which means that both senior sides have almost full fixture lists before the season begins.

The youth section continues to develop with three age groups (under 13, 14 & 16) fielding sides for the first time in the club's history. The club also has a junior section for ages 6 to 12 and the aim of offering rugby in Haverhill from 6 to adult is now close to reality. The ladies section also starts again in September and will be looking to build on their best ever results at this summer's beach rugby tournaments.

Head Coach Andy Price has used pre-season training to continue the improvement of standards that brought great results last season. As a result of growth and the promotion to a higher level the club is also looking to recruit players of all ages and abilities. If you've played rugby before, or even you if just fancy giving it a go, training for the different sections is as follows:

- Seniors – Tuesday evenings
- Youth – Wednesday evenings & Sunday mornings
- Junior – Sunday mornings
- Ladies – Saturday mornings (non contact Tag Rugby)

Stars come out in spectacular autumn line-up

A HOST of famous faces make a welcome return to the Cambridge Arts Theatre this autumn for its new season, starting in September.

Penelope Keith, Peter Bowles and Alison Steadman are among the welcome returnees, while a glittering array of stars such as Hermione Autumn brings a host of famous faces and spectacular shows to Cambridge Arts Theatre. Here's a preview . . .

Norris and Stephanie Beacham make their Cambridge Arts Theatre debuts.

The range of classic drama, sparkling comedy, charming children's shows and a great programme of one night events offered this season should ensure there's something for everybody.

Two iconic figures are brought to life this autumn.

Morecambe, which runs from September 30-October 3, is an Olivier award-winning homage to the legendary Eric Morecambe, one of Britain's best-loved comics.

And Master Class (November 8-13) delves into the life of opera diva Maria Callas (played by Stephanie Beacham), who was famous as much for her demanding ways as her incredible voice.

The season continues to showcase the highest calibre of theatrical talent with four classic offerings: Penelope Keith and Peter Bowles star in Sheridan's witty work, The Rivals (October 4-9); the smash-hit Calendar

Girls (October 18-23) returns with a stellar cast including Ruth Madoc and Bernie Nolan; Noel Coward's comedy Blithe Spirit (November 22-27) features Alison Steadman, supported by Hermione Norris and Robert Bathurst; and Alan Ayckbourn's sparkling comedy Bedroom Farce (November 29-December 4) rounds off the season with a cast that features husband and wife team Juliet Mills and Maxwell Caulfield.

Another well-known show getting a look in this season is Gilbert and Sullivan's musical spectacular The Mikado (November 15-20). With a superb musical score featuring some of Gilbert and Sullivan's best-loved songs, Cambridge Amateur Operatic Society bring a fresh perspective to this immortal classic.

Dance lovers are not forgotten this autumn with two of the leading lights of the British contemporary dance scene leaping their way onto the Arts Theatre stage.

Richard Alston Dance Company (September 28-29) will be performing three works, Light Flooding Into Darkened Rooms, Even More and Overdrive.

As with the Alston Dance Company, music also plays an important role in the work of the Henri Oquie Dance Company (November 1-2), each piece focuses on a different piece of music with equally beautiful results.

Cambridge will also play host to two unique theatrical events: The Cambridge Greek Play returns this year with Aeschylus' Agamemnon (October 13-16). Performed in Ancient Greek with English subtitles, this is a rare opportunity to see the classic tragedy as it was originally intended.

Will Self (September 17) will be talking about his work as an author and journalist, and get ready for an evening of anecdotes and laughter from true theatrical legend Donald Sinden (October 17).

Later, on October 24, Clare Teal is sure to dazzle with her swinging tunes and first-class jazz.

SCREEN

MUSIC

Ballet and ogres on the big screen

YOUTH Tube, a live, alcohol-free event for 13 to 19 year olds, comes to Haverhill Arts Centre tomorrow.

There's videos, big screens, live MCs, VJs, DJs and dance and live performances between 7.30-10.30pm. Entry is £3.

■ There's action on the big screen at the arts centre, starting with La Danse: The Paris Opera Ballet (PG), a visually alluring yet unobtrusive account of the Paris Opera Ballet. One of the most distinguished and influential filmmakers of his generation, director Frederick Wiseman spent 12 weeks working in intimate quarters with the dance company to uncover their inner workings. It screens tonight at 7.45pm.

Shrek is back in Shrek Forever After (PG) on Tuesday at 2.30pm. He makes a pact with the deal-maker Rumpelstiltskin to get back to feeling like a real ogre again. But he's duped and sent to a twisted version of Far Far Away where Rumpelstiltskin is king, ogres are hunted and he and Fiona have never met.

With a stella cast including Bill Nighy, Rupert Everett, Emily Blunt and Martin Freeman, Wild Target (15), showing on Thursday, September 2 at 7.45pm and Monday, September 6 at 1.30pm, tells of a middle-aged lone hitman whose life is dedicated to fulfilling his elderly mother's every whim. But a newly assigned target has an unexpected emotional effect on the ageing assassin and he finds himself taking stock of his situation.

■ Look out for the arts centre's new brochure, filled with details about new movies and live theatre and music, including tributes to T. Rex, Led Zeppelin, Jimi Hendrix and Elvis, and the return of Maddy Prior, Joe Brown and Ralph McTell and Ollie Austin.

■ For more details about the shows, or to book tickets, call (01440) 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk

Theatre's new season is full of fun for young

Cellist returns

FOLLOWING the tremendous success of the Hadstock Music Festival in June, acclaimed cellist Li Wei Qin will perform a recital at St Botolph's Church on Sunday at 7.30pm.

Li Wei has established himself throughout Europe, Asia and Australasia as one of the outstanding cellists of his generation.

A regular broadcaster on BBC Radio 3 and NDR in Germany, Li Wei also appears throughout the world with orchestras in the UK, Germany, Sweden, Switzerland, China, Singapore, Australia and New Zealand.

Joining him in a programme of works by Beethoven, Britten, Schumann and Shostakovich will be pianist Bernard Lanskey, the music director for the Hadstock Festival and director of the Yong Siew Toh Conservatory of Music in Singapore, where both artists are based.

Li Wei first came to Hadstock in 2007 and agreed to return because of the "intimate atmosphere, the fantastic acoustic and the beautiful surroundings".

Tickets, priced £10 and £8 for concessions (children free) will be available on the door or seats can be reserved in advance by calling (01223) 891710.

Eden in concert

LOCAL singer/songwriter Joanna Eden will be at the Bluebell in Hempstead. The well-renowned artist will perform on Sunday from 4-6pm.

SEPTEMBER doesn't have to mean 'back-to-school blues' for youngsters, with two fantastic shows on offer for children of all ages in Cambridge.

Carrie's War (September 7-11) and Room on the Broom (September 8-11) are both on their way to Cambridge Arts Theatre.

Based on Nina Bawden's timeless classic, Carrie's War follows the journey of two evacuees who are sent to live in the remote Welsh countryside.

The children soon get caught up in the strange new community in a tale that combines mystery, magic and a real sense of adventure.

Based on the well-loved book, Room On The Broom is aimed at slightly younger children, but grown-ups and adults alike are sure to enjoy this bewitching tale from the creators of The Gruffalo.

Half-term comes with a horrible treat in the form of Horrible Histories' world premiere of Horrible Science (October 26-30).

Billy Miller has no idea what's in store when he enters the world of Horrible Science and soon he is under attack from beastly bacteria, vicious volts and foul fluids.

Using actors and 3D Bogglevision, the show is guaranteed to thrill.

Last, but by no means least,

comes the Cambridge Arts Theatre's traditional family pantomime, Aladdin, which runs from December 9 until January 16.

From the hit team that brought us the phenomenally successful Dick Whittington last year, this latest offering is set to be the biggest and best yet.

Promising plenty of thrills and more than a few spills it is sure to delight and entertain the young and the young at heart.

■ For further details on any of the shows, contact the Cambridge Arts Theatre on (01223) 503333 / www.cambridgeartstheatre.com

The big film

SALT (12A, 100 mins)

Action/Thriller. Angelina Jolie, Liev Schreiber, Chiwetel Ejiofor, Daniel Olbrychski, August Diehl and Andre Braugher. Director: Phillip Noyce

ANGELINA Jolie's first film for two years takes itself far too seriously. Salt, named after the CIA operative played by Jolie, is a thinly-veiled attempt at making a Bourne-esque franchise, but rather than be genuinely gripping, the plot starts slow, is predictable and the script is clichéd.

The action opens "two years ago" in North Korea, where we find an unfeasibly blonde Jolie stripped to her underwear, bound and covered in blood.

She's released with the help of her German arachnologist boyfriend (Diehl) and we flash forward to their spider-strewn apartment, on their wedding anniversary.

At CIA HQ in Washington, Evelyn Salt is set to leave for the day, when she and her boss Winter (Schreiber) are called to interrogate Russian defector Orlov (Olbrychski) who accuses Salt of being part of a cell of Russian sleeper spies who are about to be activated in what he terms Day X.

Salt, he claims, will kill the Russian

President at the American vice-president's funeral in New York. Realising her husband's in danger, Salt tells Winter: "I'm not a goddamn Russian spy", before blasting her way out of the building and jumping from truck to truck in a car chase. Cue cheesy flashbacks of Evelyn meeting her husband for the first time in a hot-house, as she finds he's not at home and kits herself up to head to New York.

While crowds mass round a church before the funeral, Salt evades her CIA colleagues and slips into the subway and the church vault to carry out the assassination of the Russian president. But is she really a sleeper spy?

Jolie can still kick some serious butt – there's a huge body count in the film – but too often it seems she's just going through the motions and some of the high-octane moments lack spark.

Chiwetel Ejiofor is on form as the counter-intelligence officer who chases Salt throughout the film, and is integral to the final scene which sets up a sequel. If there are tongue-in-cheek moments, they don't raise a laugh and the dull colour palette does nothing to lift the film out of the realms of mediocrity.

Lost letters 28

In each of these puzzles a famous or popular quotation fills the grid. The individual letters remain in their correct column, but have fallen out and are out of order. Reinsert them in the correct order to find the answer. Any punctuation is given in its own square. This quotation is from Oscar Wilde.

Plant carefully and enjoy a colourful late summer

Don't be downhearted if your summer borders look a little faded, because you can still have a riot of colour in late summer if you plant carefully.

Blazing crocosmias and red hot pokers, burnt orange heleniums and deep yellow rudbeckias will brighten up any border at this time of year, partnered with impressive foliage plants such as the smoke bush (Cotinus) and cordylone.

Dahlias, hollyhocks, Michaelmas daisies, nasturtiums, day lilies and summer-flowering euphorbias provide much-needed freshness. Many combine well with perennial verbenas and grasses.

Try growing thistle-like Cynara (a group which includes the cardoon and globe artichoke), which produces handsome foliage and dramatic purple thistle flower heads at the back of a

by Hannah Stephenson

border to add summer interest to shrubs, or allow them to grow through cottage garden favourites.

Plant sun-loving cone flowers (Echinacea), in shades of pink and white. The daisy-like flowers and height (they can grow to 120cm (4ft tall)) mean they work well towards the back of the border, they attract bees and butterflies and add impact alongside globe thistle (Echinops) and monarda.

You may have to go to a specialist grower to find perennial sunflowers (Helianthus) but it will be worth it for the zingy yellow blooms they produce in late summer.

Like their annual cousins, they like a warm, sunny spot, but perennial sunflowers aren't fussy about soil provided they have good drainage.

The flowers are more subtle than those of the annuals and there are numerous varieties, ranging from H. salicifolius, a tall plant with small daisy-like blooms which last well into autumn, to the golden yellow double variety 'Lodden Gold'.

Red Schizostylis coccinea 'Major', russet-coloured Helenium 'Moerheim Beauty', cool yellow Phygelius aequalis 'Yellow Trumpet', blue Agapanthus Headbourne Hybrids and bright blue Aster frikartii 'Monch' all provide late colour.

Dark-leaved castor oil plants and orange-flowered dahlias such as D. 'David Howard' provide striking colour, along with tall red hot pokers such as Kniphofia rooperi and the deep red D. 'Altami Corsair', all of which are attention grabbers.

Use drifts of perennial border phloxes in the middle of borders to provide intense pools of summer colour. Herbaceous potentillas or small asters can be planted in front to hide the bare phlox stems. Phloxes are ideal follow-on plants for poppies and shouldn't need staking except in windy gardens. Don't let them dry out in summer as they need a moist soil.

If you want to add late summer-flowering plants to an existing border, buy as many of the same colour and variety as you can afford and repeat-plant them through the border to unify it and develop a sense of rhythm.

Such plants will need to have a distinct colour and reasonably long flowering season. Keep it simple and remember that limiting the colour palette can greatly increase the impact.

In general, when mixing colours, aim either for all pastel shades – pale pinks, blues, mauves, creams – or strong contrasting colours – reds, yellows, strong blues and purples. If you mix strong colours with pastel ones, the bright colours will swamp the more subtle ones.

Blooming marvellous: planting dahlias can help brighten up your garden in late summer.

BEST OF THE BUNCH Agapanthus

I always seem to see agapanthus at their best in warmer climes, but it is possible to have plenty of success with these glorious globes of blue or white flowers in this country, as they come into their own in late summer. Growing to around 80cm (31in) tall, the flowers appear above a fountain of strappy foliage in August and, while they've a reputation for being tender, some varieties such as the Headbourne Hybrids while and the deciduous A.

campanulatus can withstand frost.

In milder gardens they are long-lived perennials which require little maintenance, while in cooler areas they will need a winter mulch of bracken or can be grown in containers which can be moved under cover in winter.

They should be grown in an open, sunny spot in well-drained soil and make good plant partners for perennials including phlox and hemerocallis.

If you're growing them in pots, plant them on into bigger containers each spring using loam-based compost and add some slow-release fertiliser.

Summer PROPERTY GUIDE 2010

Make a splash with your bathroom

THEY might be the most private room in the house but bathrooms are currently in the spotlight.

These days we want a retreat to soothe our spirits and somewhere practical to splash around in, so we're ever more demanding of its decor.

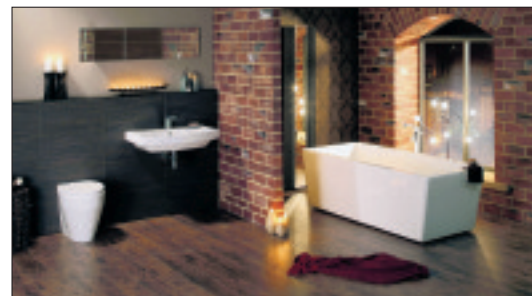

There are limitless possibilities for kitting out this room – whether it's emulating the vintage style of yesteryear or being bang up to date and creating the ultimate contemporary spa room.

Luckily, making a stylish splash needn't cost a fortune, as companies vie with each other to attract homeowners who are opting to improve rather than move.

There are easy ways to freshen up the room too, from replacing taps and regrouting tiles to fitting a mirror spanning the length of a bath to make the room appear larger, and replacing a shabby shower curtain.

Planning the makeover

- Get ideas from top-of-the-range bathroom showrooms, be inspired by holiday hotels and take photos of bathrooms you admire to help you copy the style.
- Enlist the advice of a professional designer or experienced builder before you outlay on fittings and furniture.
- Don't be afraid to negotiate package deals and discounts from bathroom companies and ask about ex-display or cancelled order items, sold for reduced prices.
- Set a budget and stick to it, and don't forget to factor in flooring, lighting, tiles and redecoration – and allow for hidden expenses, such as pumps and thermostats.
- If you're strapped for cash, opt for a simple bathroom with classic white sanitary ware and plain tiles – that way it will never date.

Mix it up

Be inspired by the style of times past and reflect today's cutting-edge bathroom style to conjure a vintage and modern look.

Free-standing roll-top or claw-foot baths always conjure a feeling of traditional elegance and luxury. Paired with a contemporary vessel-style basin which sits proud of a unit, you could achieve your ideal, unique retro/modern look.

Make mine a spa

Bathrooms have evolved from being just a functional room in a home to a sanctuary to escape from everyday life.

Currently, the trend is to emulate lavish hotel bathrooms within the comfort of your own home. This could be due to more people choosing to improve rather than move.

Opt for soft, curved lines emulating the shape of beach pebbles, paired with gentle honey colours or soft whites or stone colours to create a tranquil feel. And remember to get that all-important lighting right.

Clutter is the enemy of serenity and relaxation – two essential ingredients for a home spa – so adequate storage is vital.

Free-standing units are a fashionable choice and easy to add to a bathroom. Boost storage capacity further with extra baskets and boxes.

Tile-tastic

Fully tiling walls and floors is a practical approach, but can be costly. Cut corners by simply tiling a wall nearest the bath or sink, or use decorative tiles as a feature for a splashback or a bath panel.

As minimalism's shown signs of waning, coloured tiles have increased in popularity as a way to add depth and contrast to bathrooms. Injections of colour create a bold statement and work well combined with a neutral palette.

Stone-effect tiles are a budget way to introduce an element of natural luxury and contrast well with white sanitary ware.

Bathroom treats

Thick fluffy towels in jewel-rich colours and well-designed accessories such as soap dispensers and scented candles will transform a bathroom into a truly pampering retreat.

If you've opted for a neutral palate for the room, indulge in sumptuous accessories to add interest and personality.

Character home with period features

THIS attractive home stands in Hunnux Green, Baythorne End, and backs onto open fields.

It offers fantastic period accommodation including a reception hall, cloakroom, modern kitchen, living/dining room with exposed timbers, three first-floor bedrooms and a family bathroom.

Outside there is a smart front garden which is mainly laid to lawn, with a patio area and shed. Off-road parking is also provided.

The property is on the market for £219,995. Call Bychoice on (01440) 768919.

Room for all the family

ON the market for £194,995 is this detached family home.

Situated in Castle Lane, it is close to the centre of Haverhill.

Inside, there is an entrance hall, cloakroom, kitchen, living room, dining room, sun room, four first-floor bedrooms and a family bathroom.

The garden to the rear is mainly laid to patio with a pond, and there is a lawned garden to the front, plus a driveway leading to a garage.

Summer PROPERTY GUIDE 2010

Five-bedroom modern home

STANDING in Atterton Road, on the Cambridge side of Haverhill, is this modern home.

It offers spacious accommodation which includes a living room, dining room, study, fantastic kitchen, ground-floor cloakroom, large conservatory, five bedrooms, two en suites and a family bathroom.

To the front of the property there is a double garage with off-road parking for two additional vehicles. Gated access leads to the rear southeast-facing garden which is mainly laid to lawn with shrub areas.

This property is on the market with no upward chain for £255,000. Contact Morris Armitage on (01440) 768668.

Greatly-improved bungalow

THIS attractive bungalow is offered for sale through Samuels Independent Estate Agents.

The property, which stands in Beaumont Court, Haverhill, has been greatly improved and is situated within easy access of the town centre.

The accommodation includes a reception hall, living room, L-shaped kitchen/dining room, conservatory, two bedrooms and a bathroom.

The landscaped gardens are laid to lawn with a paved seating area.

The property is on the market for £219,950. Contact (01440) 708100 to arrange a viewing.

Confidence returning to the market

WE could be entering a buyers' market, say property experts, which would prove good news for those hoping to acquire their dream home.

Property websites have recently announced that the number of homes coming onto the market during July was 45 per cent higher on average than a year ago.

However, they warn that the number of new mortgage approvals each month is less than half the number of new sellers.

Philip Macdonald, managing director of Abbotts Countrywide, explains: "Whereas, for the last couple of years, there has been a shortage of good quality properties to meet demand, the reverse is probably true in large parts of the region.

"The lack of mortgage funding, combined with the strictest lending criteria for more than a decade, means buyers meeting the financial challenges, and who are in a position to buy, are grasping the opportunity to be in charge.

"Consequently, for sellers who are keen to sell, this means sensible pricing, while leaving a little headroom for the inevitable 'negotiation'.

"However, since too many agents have failed to enter the 'real world', and have very few successful sales to prove it, there can still be a tendency for over-pricing which can delay an acceptable outcome for months.

"A friend's daughter is the victim of such poor advice, having been advised to put her former schoolhouse on the market at 2007 prices. Needless to say, she hasn't attracted a single viewer in three months, despite its stylish interior and extensive refurbishment.

"This is a salutary warning to potential sellers. Choose your agent carefully, ensuring that they know their local markets and have the evidence to demonstrate their effectiveness.

"Beware those who overprice simply to obtain an instruction. Get three market appraisals and then go the sole agency route for the best results, but remember, commission agreements should be straightforward read any small print carefully and challenge anything you don't easily understand.

"If, indeed, we are entering a buyers' market, sellers need to pay particular attention to maximising their property's 'kerb appeal'.

Research indicates that the initial 10 seconds of a viewing are vital. Clean windows, fresh paintwork, tidy garden, pots of plants, and a weed-free, well swept, drive are all critical if you want your buyer to fall in love with your property.

"Keeping the interior free of clutter, softly lit, clean and tidy is also important. If a room needs redecorating, or a door re-hanging, do it before marketing. You don't want buyers to have any excuses for not buying, or indeed for not paying the right price.

According to HM Revenue and Customs, at 225,000 for the second quarter of 2010 the number of transactions is down on the 441,000 achieved in the same period three years ago.

Philip adds: "We have a long way to go to fully restore confidence in the housing sector, but we are well ahead of where we were a year ago.

"However, it remains essential for both sellers and buyers to be realistic."

For more information, contact Abbotts in Haverhill on (01440) 702575.

Tweaked M5 achieves speed record

A BMW M5-based G-Power Hurricane RR has just set the world speed record for the fastest saloon car, at 232.5mph, fitted with Michelin Pilot Sport tyres.

Built by German tuning specialist G-Power, the Hurricane RR is powered by a twin supercharged V10 engine which produces 800bhp and was fitted with 19-inch Pilot Sports for the record-breaking run, in place of the standard 20-inch fitments.

A weight of two tonnes and a top speed of 232.5mph naturally places extreme demands on the tyres and as a technology partner to G-Power, Michelin provided high-performance Pilot Sport tyres in the dimensions: 255/35 ZR 19 at the front axle and 305/30 ZR 19 at the Michelin treats: These 19-inch Michelin Pilot Sports tyres proved to be a huge success.

The BMW M5 G-Power Hurricane RR: World speed record clocked at 232.5mph.

rear axle for this reason. For everyday use the G-Power Hurricane RR runs on 20-inch rims with 245/35 ZR 20 and 285/30 ZR 20 Michelins front and rear.

The G-Power Hurricane RR not only set new performance standards for top speed.

With acceleration times of just 4.35 seconds from 0 to 100km/h, 9.5 seconds up to 200km/h and 25.8 seconds up to 300km/h, this awesome car is also leading the class in this area too.

Engine line-up improved for Skoda winner

SKODA has announced the introduction of a 1.6 TDI CR 105bhp engine to its multi-award-winning Superb range.

The engine offers improved driveability, fuel consumption and CO2 over the 1.9 TDI PD unit which it replaces. Combined mpg has been improved by an impressive 6.9mpg for the Hatch, and 5.6mpg for the Estate while emissions have been reduced by a remarkable 19g/km and 20g/km respectively.

With prices starting at just £17,480 the Superb offers the same great value for money as every Skoda. However, it's not just the great value that sets it apart from its rivals. Its style, practicality and luxurious comfort have won it critical acclaim, including Top Gear magazine's "Luxury Car of the Year" and Auto Express' "Best Family Car" and "Estate Car of the Year".

Available in S and SE trim levels, the 1.6 TDI CR comes with a five-speed manual gearbox and is available from Vindis Skoda on (01223) 507507 now.

Prices start at £17,480 for the 1.6 TDI CR hatch and peak at £20,780 for the 1.6 TDI CR estate.

Nissan Note gets extra goodies for same price

A RANGE of enhancements have been announced for the Nissan Note.

Both Acenta and Tekna grades now feature silver painted door handles and a silver finish for the tailgate trim, complemented by fashionable gloss black B and C-pillars. Choose the Note n-tec and a new front spoiler finisher and front entry guards also add to the Note's appearance.

The Acenta variants have also been fitted with a new audio system, allowing drivers to enjoy the benefits of USB, iPod and audio input connections at no extra cost.

Responding to the desires of customers, Nissan has further enhanced the already generous standard n-tec kit list with climate control, auto lighting and auto wipers, while a new interior trim colour is also available.

Remember, this is in addition to the n-tec's existing standard Connect sat-nav and audio system, 16-inch alloy wheels and privacy glass. Safety is also enhanced with ESP now fitted as standard on Acenta, Tekna and n-tec variants.

Nissan's Intelligent Key, previously a £250 option, is now standard. The advanced system offers 'key-less' entry and starting as long as the driver is in possession of the key fob.

In the Note's engine room both the 1.4 and 1.6-litre petrol engines comply with the latest Euro V emissions regulations.

Perhaps the best news is that the increase in equipment has had no impact on the Note's price list.

Marshall Nissan is available on (01223) 377000.

THE NISSAN NOTE n-tec: New front is appearance boost at no extra cost.

THE KIA POP: Zero-emissions motoring.

Kia's three-seat POP brings elec-chic to city car sector

KIA Motors will continue its tradition of unveiling convention-challenging and design-led concept vehicles at motor shows when it reveals an all-new electric concept car at the Paris Motor Show on September 30.

Called the 'POP', Kia's latest concept car boasts zero-emissions – while in use – and at three metres long, yet with a three-seat layout, brings innovative design chic and dramatic styling to the city car segment.

Further information will be released in due course. The 2010 Paris Motor Show runs from September 30 to October 17.

» Golf: Round-up of the latest news from Haverhill GC

It's Mixed fortunes for Hilary, Francis

HILARY and Francis Fitch emerged victorious from a field of 102 at Haverhill Golf Club's Mixed Open.

The four ball better ball competition, played off seven-eighths handicap, was very close, but a score of 43 points was good enough for the pair from Bury St Edmunds.

In second place with 42pts were Marilyn and Mike Parmenter from Braintree, ahead of Alan and Diane Cunningham from Newton Green on countback.

The winners of the back nine were Nigel and Caroline Harris of Braintree with 21pts, and for the front nine, also with 21pts, were Sylvia and Raymond Shaw of Menzies.

The ladies' nearest the pin was won by Gina Doyle of Harwich & Dovercourt and the men's by Peter Page of Elsenham.

Haverhill's club captain David Chapman and lady captain Sally Price made the prize presentation and thanked all those who helped organise the day, with special thanks to Doug and Stella Renyard.

They're cream of the crop: Prize winners at the Mixed Open at Haverhill Golf Club (above). Right: Winning 'rabbit' Joanne Gauntlett with her 'fox' Dennis Harkness.

■ The Ladies August Stableford (NSCR Spoon) was won with a score of 33 points by Theresa Spittle, ahead of Geraldine Wheatley on countback, with Linda Macfarlane third with 32 points.

■ Winner of the men's August Stableford was Mick Dalena with a fantastic score of 46pts.

Results - Division One: 1 Eric Armstrong 43pts, 2 Lewis Whiting 42, 3

Stuart King 37. Division Two: 1 Mick Dalena 46, 2 Michael Perrett 43, 3 Trevor Broomfield 40. Division Three: 1 Ken Johnson 43, 2 Roger Hartley 42, 3 Peter Knight 39.

■ The Seniors' match at home against Towerlands resulted in a convincing 6-2 win for the hosts.

■ The popular Foxes & Rabbits event, where golfers and non-golfers join forces to compete over 10 holes, was won by Joanne Gauntlett.

CP

The golfers play from tee to green, with the non-golfing 'rabbits' putting out.

Gauntlett, who partnered vice-president, Dennis Harkness won with an excellent score of 17 puts.

Runner-up for the rabbits was Mrs M Poppy, who partnered the winning fox, Trevor Ship. The runner-up in the foxes' competition was Dan Wilkins.

A Savage way to take revenge!

LIAM Savage smashed an unbeaten 72 as Haverhill II paid back Melton St Audreys for a convincing defeat earlier in the season in Division Six of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship.

Martyn Wilkins took 3 for 19 as Melton totalled 160 for 7.

Haverhill found themselves 26 for 2 after seven overs, but Savage joined Neil Winter (34) in a partnership of 77, and Russell Davis (31 not out) then joined Savage in a stand of 60 to see their side home. ■ Haverhill's Sunday firsts had the worst of the conditions against Worlington on a damp track in Division One of the Hunts County Bats Suffolk Sunday League.

Openers Steve Fox and Liam Botten were both dismissed for ducks, but Luke Youngs (27) and Dan Poole (42) rebuilt the innings and Dan Wilkins hit 54 to take Haverhill to 177 for 8.

Davis bowled his heart out to claim three wickets, but steady batting from Worlington saw them reach their target with seven wickets and five overs to spare.

■ Steve Saville took 5 for 3 as the seconds made short work of a depleted Elveden in Division Four.

They bowled their opponents out for 54, and Sam Hartshorn then hit 44 not out as Haverhill won without losing a wicket.

■ Weston Colville beat Barnack by five wickets in a rain-affected match in the Tucker Gardner Cambs & Hunts Premier League, Division Two.

Barnack posted 215 for 8, but Weston Colville were on 148 for 5, ahead of the required run-rate, when the rain forced a premature conclusion to the match.

■ Horseheath beat struggling Doddington by 103 runs in the Cricket Stick CCA Senior League, Division One, posting 226 for 9 before restricting their visitors to 123 for 9.

» Youth football: West Wrating in pre-season action

West Wrating U15 10
Newmarket Tn U15 4

THE Reds maintained their 100 per cent pre-season record and dominated this game against a strong Town outfit.

Skipper Liam Curran was influential, with a man of the match performance that ensured the Reds held the upper hand in midfield, and he set up the first goal after five minutes for Tom Pinker.

Town grabbed an equaliser, but the Reds hit straight back as the impressive Harry Willett set up two more goals for the prolific Pinker's hat-trick.

Town refused to buckle and created a well-taken goal to stay in the game, before Curran picked out James Percy who made it 4-2 at the break.

Wrating upped the ante from the restart and Tom Warnock's run and deft pass found Cameron Biggs, who hit a crisp 25-yard effort into the bottom corner.

Percy then set up Pinker for 6-2 and Matt Burley's astute header followed by his curling effort from the edge of the area made it 8-2.

Despite the score the Town keeper had made a string of outstanding saves but could not

On-form Curran pulls the strings prevent Curran slotting home Willett's through ball for his first of the game.

Town deserved the two late goals they scored but, fittingly, it was Curran who had the last word as he picked up a loose ball 30 yards out and left defenders in his wake before firing home from 15 yards.

Wrating's last pre-season game is on Sunday against Spartak 78.

West Wrating U14 6
Witchford 1

WRATING got off to a great start when Bill Bush capped a fine move involving Ryan Cooper and Mark Coulson with the opening goal.

Alex Horscroft partnered Sam Ager in central defence and applied himself superbly on his debut.

Chris Elliott and Lewis Massie were rarely troubled early on but when they were they both dealt with everything Witchford could throw down the flanks, both on the ground and in the air.

The Witchford keeper then made a superb save from Cooper, leaping backwards to pluck the ball out of the air with his left hand midway through the half. And his side built on that by converting a penalty to level the scores.

West Wrating began to get on top again and just before half time a strike from Earle Lambert thumped the underside of the crossbar, with Cooper following up to knock the ball in for a 2-1 lead.

Wrating were forced to soak up some pressure in the second half, with Robert Foster and Harvey Scotton to the fore.

With 15 minutes left Wrating began to get stronger as the 11 from Witchford began to tire, and Coulson completed a quality hat-trick, the pick of them a strike from the edge of the box.

Cooper then struck a thunderbolt from the edge of the box into the top right-hand corner to complete the scoring.

Aaron Millar's good save prevented Witchford from adding to their score, and Lambert went close for Wrating, only to hit the post.

Winning finale for Haverhill

TENNIS: The Haverhill mixed team played their final match of the season against Lavenham in the Halstead & District League, Division Two.

Marcia Armstrong and Nigel Fitch won all their three sets, Abi Cartright-Thomas and Jake Warner won two sets and Gill Argent and Ross Tobin also won two to set up a final score of 7-2 in Haverhill's favour.

The result means that Haverhill just pipped Lavenham to second place in the table, behind winners Essex B.

Poole, Dellar start the promotion party

IT has been a memorable week for Haverhill CC, with a match against an all-star Lashings XI followed by the first-team clinching promotion.

Elmstead Grasshoppers were the victims as Haverhill booked their place in Division One of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship.

Chris Silverwood, Simon Youngs and Scott Webb took three wickets each and there was one run-out as Elmstead were dismissed for only 89.

Haverhill stumbled a bit in reply and at one stage were 21 for 4. But Dan Poole and Adam Dellar both scored in the 30s to see their side home in 20 overs.

Victory in their final two matches will see Haverhill add the league title to their feat of achieving promotion.

In the Lashing's match, Joe Woodley and Stu Ketteridge took a wicket apiece to reduce the all-star international team to 14 for 2, but Australian Ian Harvey smashed 154 and New Zealand's Jamie Marshall 100 as their team finished on 308. Ketteridge finished with three wickets.

Haverhill managed only 102 all out with Simon Youngs getting 42 and son Luke 30.

With Luke Youngs having also taken two catches behind the stumps, he was named Haverhill's man of the match.

» Football: Rovers bounce back from disappointing draw to end visitors' unbeaten run

Town are Cutt down by Craig

Haverhill Rov 2 Wisbech Tn 1
RIDGEONS LEAGUE, PREMIER DIVISION

GOALS from Craig Cutts and Stuart Wardley gave Rovers a deserved victory and ended Wisbech's unbeaten run on Tuesday night.

Cutts put Rovers in front in the 15th minute when he took advantage of a defensive mix-up on the edge of the Town penalty area. A backwards header was missed by the visiting keeper and Cutts gratefully rolled the ball into the empty net.

Wardley doubled the lead nine minutes into the second half when he headed home Jack Higgs' free kick.

Former Soham Town Rangers duo Simon Flanz and Scott Carter combined for the latter to pull a goal back on the hour.

Rovers held on, but in stoppage time an altercation between Flanz and Harry Halls resulted in both being sent off.

■ Rovers manager Peter Betts was left with mixed emotions after watching his Haverhill side throw away a 2-0 lead at Norwich United and end with a 2-2 draw on Saturday.

The manager saw Marcus Hunt and Jamie Challis both score in the first five minutes of the second half to put his team in charge.

But the visitors felt they should have been awarded a goal kick in the build-up to the hosts' first goal and it was all square five minutes later.

Betts also thought Norwich should have been down to 10 men following an alleged headbutt and two-footed lunge by the same player, before Matt Clarke was denied a winner by a goalline clearance in injury time.

"The aim before the game was to get a point, but we should have been 4-0 up as we were dominating. We were disappointed with the officials," said Betts.

"We've had a tough start and we probably should have seven points on the board by now, but I'm not going to grumble too much.

"If we can perform like we have done in fits and starts so far consistently over the season then I'm sure we'll be where we want to be."

Rovers travel to Wellingborough in the FA Cup, preliminary round on Saturday, and are on the road again next Tuesday with a trip to Ely City in the Premier Division.

On target: Craig Cutts.
